15 BEFORE THE COURT are the Plaintiff's Motion For Summary Judgment 16 (ECF No. 13) and the Defendant's Motion For Summary Judgment (ECF No. 14).

18 JURISDICTION

19 Terrell Lee McCart, Plaintiff, applied for Title II Disability Insurance benefits 20 (SSDI) and Title XVI Supplemental Security Income benefits (SSI) on June 12, 2009.
21 The applications were denied initially and on reconsideration. Plaintiff timely 22 requested a hearing. Two hearings were held before Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) 23 Caroline Siderius, one on September 9, 2011, and a supplemental hearing on February 24 29, 2012. On March 28, 2012, ALJ Siderius issued a decision finding the Plaintiff 25 not disabled, however, the Appeals Council subsequently granted a request for review 26 and remanded the case for further development of the record.

27 On June 12, 2014, a hearing was held before ALJ Larry Kennedy. Plaintiff 28 testified at the hearing, as did Vocational Expert (VE) Kimberly Mullinax. On

ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANT'S
MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT- 1

1 October 31, 2014, the ALJ issued a decision finding the Plaintiff not disabled. The 2 Appeals Council denied a request for review of the ALJ's decision, making that 3 decision the Commissioner's final decision subject to judicial review. The 4 Commissioner's final decision is appealable to district court pursuant to 42 U.S.C.
5 §405(g) and §1383(c)(3).

6 7 STATEMENT OF FACTS

8 The facts have been presented in the administrative transcript, the ALJ's 9 decision, the Plaintiff's and Defendant's briefs, and will only be summarized here. At 10 the time of the June 12, 2014 administrative hearing, Plaintiff was 55 years old. He 11 has past relevant work experience as a laborer, security guard, dump truck driver, 12 flagger, construction worker, industrial truck operator, and deliverer. Plaintiff alleges 13 disability since April 7, 2009, on which date he was 50 years old. His date last 14 insured for Title II benefits was December 31, 2009.

15 16 STANDARD OF REVIEW

17 "The [Commissioner's] determination that a claimant is not disabled will be 18 upheld if the findings of fact are supported by substantial evidence...." Delgado v.
19 Heckler, 722 F.2d 570, 572 (9th Cir. 1983). Substantial evidence is more than a mere 20 scintilla, Sorenson v. Weinberger, 514 F.2d 1112, 1119 n.10 (9th Cir. 1975), but less 21 than a preponderance. McAllister v. Sullivan, 888 F.2d 599, 601-602 (9th Cir. 1989); 22 Desrosiers v. Secretary of Health and Human Services, 846 F.2d 573, 576 (9th Cir.
23 1988). "It means such relevant evidence as a reasonable mind might accept as 24 adequate to support a conclusion." Richardson v. Perales, 402 U.S. 389, 401, 91 25 S.Ct. 1420 (1971). "[S]uch inferences and conclusions as the [Commissioner] may 26 reasonably draw from the evidence" will also be upheld. Beane v. Richardson, 457 27 F.2d 758, 759 (9th Cir. 1972); Mark v. Celebrezze, 348 F.2d 289, 293 (9th Cir. 1965).

28 ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT- 2

1 On review, the court considers the record as a whole, not just the evidence supporting 2 the decision of the Commissioner. Weetman v. Sullivan, 877 F.2d 20, 22 (9th Cir.
3 1989); Thompson v. Schweiker, 665 F.2d 936, 939 (9th Cir. 1982).

4 It is the role of the trier of fact, not this court to resolve conflicts in evidence.
5 Richardson, 402 U.S. at 400. If evidence supports more than one rational 6 interpretation, the court must uphold the decision of the ALJ. Allen v. Heckler, 749 7 F.2d 577, 579 (9th Cir. 1984).

8 A decision supported by substantial evidence will still be set aside if the proper 9 legal standards were not applied in weighing the evidence and making the decision.
10 Browner v. Secretary of Health and Human Services, 839 F.2d 432, 433 (9th Cir.
11 1987).

12 13 ISSUES

14 Plaintiff argues the ALJ erred in: 1) evaluating the medical opinions of record; 15 and 2) posing an incomplete hypothetical to the VE.

16 17 DISCUSSION

18 SEQUENTIAL EVALUATION PROCESS

19 The Social Security Act defines "disability" as the "inability to engage in any 20 substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or 21 mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can 22 be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than twelve months." 42 23 U.S.C. § 1382c(a)(3)(A). The Act also provides that a claimant shall be determined 24 to be under a disability only if his impairments are of such severity that the claimant 25 is not only unable to do his previous work but cannot, considering his age, education 26 and work experiences, engage in any other substantial gainful work which exists in 27 the national economy. Id.

28 ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANT'S

MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT- 3

1       The Commissioner has established a five-step sequential evaluation process for 2 determining whether a person is disabled. 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520 and 416.920; 3 Bowen v. Yuckert, 482 U.S. 137, 140-42, 107 S.Ct. 2287 (1987). Step one determines 4 if he is engaged in substantial gainful activities. If he is, benefits are denied. 20 5 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520(a)(4)(i) and 416.920(a)(4)(i). If he is not, the decision-maker 6 proceeds to step two, which determines whether the claimant has a medically severe 7 impairment or combination of impairments. 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520(a)(4)(ii) and 8 416.920(a)(4)(ii). If the claimant does not have a severe impairment or combination 9 of impairments, the disability claim is denied. If the impairment is severe, the 10 evaluation proceeds to the third step, which compares the claimant's impairment with 11 a number of listed impairments acknowledged by the Commissioner to be so severe 12 as to preclude substantial gainful activity. 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520(a)(4)(iii) and 13 416.920(a)(4)(iii); 20 C.F.R. § 404 Subpart P, App. 1. If the impairment meets or 14 equals one of the listed impairments, the claimant is conclusively presumed to be 15 disabled. If the impairment is not one conclusively presumed to be disabling, the 16 evaluation proceeds to the fourth step which determines whether the impairment 17 prevents the claimant from performing work he has performed in the past. If the 18 claimant is able to perform his previous work, he is not disabled. 20 C.F.R. §§ 19 404.1520(a)(4)(iv) and 416.920(a)(4)(iv). If the claimant cannot perform this work, 20 the fifth and final step in the process determines whether he is able to perform other 21 work in the national economy in view of his age, education and work experience. 20 22 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520(a)(4)(v) and 416.920(a)(4)(v).

23       The initial burden of proof rests upon the claimant to establish a prima facie 24 case of entitlement to disability benefits. Rhinehart v. Finch, 438 F.2d 920, 921 (9th 25 Cir. 1971). The initial burden is met once a claimant establishes that a physical or 26 mental impairment prevents him from engaging in his previous occupation. The 27 burden then shifts to the Commissioner to show (1) that the claimant can perform 28

ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANT'S
MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT- 4

1 other substantial gainful activity and (2) that a "significant number of jobs exist in the 2 national economy" which claimant can perform. Kail v. Heckler, 722 F.2d 1496, 3 1498 (9th Cir. 1984).

4 5 ALJ'S FINDINGS

6 The ALJ found the following:

7 1) Plaintiff has "severe" medical impairments, those being: lumbar 8 degenerative disc disease; cervical strain; degenerative joint disease of the bilateral 9 knees; chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD); affective disorder 10 (depression); anxiety disorder; and drug and alcohol use disorder;

11 2) Plaintiff's impairments do not meet or equal any of the impairments listed 12 in 20 C.F.R. § 404 Subpart P, App. 1;

13 3) Plaintiff has the physical residual functional capacity (RFC) to perform 14 medium work as defined in 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1567(c) and 416.967(c) with the caveat 15 that: he can frequently handle and finger with the right upper extremity; he can 16 occasionally balance, stoop, kneel and crouch; he should avoid crawling, climbing 17 ladders, ropes, scaffolds and stairs; he should avoid concentrated exposure to 18 vibrations, fumes, odors, gases, poor ventilation and hazards;

19 4) With regard to mental RFC, the Plaintiff can understand, remember, and 20 carry out simple and some detailed instructions; he can make judgments on simple 21 and some detailed work-related decisions; he could perform sustained work activities 22 in an ordinary work setting on a regular and continuing basis within customary 23 tolerances of employers' rules regarding sick leave and absence; he requires a work 24 environment with minimal supervisor contact; he can work in proximity to coworkers, 25 but not in a cooperative or team effort; he requires a work environment where there 26 is no more than superficial interaction with a few coworkers; he can have simple and 27 ///

28
ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANT'S
MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT- 5

1 superficial exchanges with the general public, but he cannot engage in complex or 2 demanding social exchanges;

3 5) Plaintiff's RFC allows him to perform his past relevant work as a dump 4 truck driver, tow truck driver, and outside deliverer;

5 6) Alternatively, it allows him to perform other jobs existing in significant 6 numbers in the national economy as identified by the VE, including laundry worker 7 and merchandise deliverer.

8 Accordingly, the ALJ concluded the Plaintiff is not disabled.

10 OPINIONS OF MEDICAL SOURCES

11 It is settled law in the Ninth Circuit that in a disability proceeding, the opinion 12 of a licensed treating or examining physician or psychologist is given special weight 13 because of his/her familiarity with the claimant and his/her condition. If the treating 14 or examining physician's or psychologist's opinion is not contradicted, it can be 15 rejected only for clear and convincing reasons. Reddick v. Chater, 157 F.3d 715, 725 16 (9th Cir. 1998); Lester v. Chater, 81 F.3d 821, 830 (9th Cir. 1996). If contradicted, the 17 ALJ may reject the opinion if specific, legitimate reasons that are supported by 18 substantial evidence are given. Id. "[W]hen evaluating conflicting medical opinions, 19 an ALJ need not accept the opinion of a doctor if that opinion is brief, conclusory, 20 and inadequately supported by clinical findings." Bayliss v. Barnhart, 427 F.3d 1211, 21 1216 (9th Cir. 2005).

22 Nurse practitioners, physicians' assistants, and therapists (physical and mental 23 health) are not "acceptable medical sources" for the purpose of establishing if a 24 claimant has a medically determinable impairment. 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1513(a) and 25 416.913(a). Their opinions are, however, relevant to show the severity of an 26 impairment and how it affects a claimant's ability to work. 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1513(d) 27 and 416.913(d). An ALJ can reject opinions from these "other source[s]" by 4 A. Charles Forster, M.D.

5 Plaintiff resumed seeing Dr. Forster at the Yakima Farm Workers Clinic in 6 September 2008, after a six year absence. Plaintiff complained of chronic back pain.
7 He rated his pain as 6 on a scale of 1 to 10. Palpation of the mid-thoracic spine, 8 where Plaintiff said he had the most discomfort, revealed some muscular tenderness, 9 but no gross bony tenderness. Plaintiff was able to perform straight leg raising to 10 about 80 degrees bilaterally with minimal discomfort. Deep tendon reflexes were 11 trace and symmetric at the knee. Dr. Forster specifically informed Plaintiff that 12 “narcotic pain medication [was] not an option for this chronic pain syndrome.” (AR 13 at p. 214).

14 Plaintiff returned to see Dr. Forster in November 2008, requesting the doctor 15 complete a physical evaluation form from the Washington Department of Social 16 Health Services (DSHS). Plaintiff told the doctor he could not “do any significant 17 physical labor due to some chronic back pain and chronic spinal abnormalities,” and 18 that any lifting, bending, stooping or prolonged standing caused him to develop 19 worsening pain. On exam, the Plaintiff was in no distress. He was capable of straight 20 leg raising to 80-90 degrees bilaterally “without significant low back pain.” As to 21 Plaintiff’s gait, Dr. Forster reported that Plaintiff walked with a slight limp, “but gets 22 up and off the table easily and walks easily in the hallway otherwise.” (AR at p. 216).
23 On the DSHS evaluation form, Dr. Forster rated Plaintiff’s chronic low back pain as 24 a “moderate” impairment which caused “[s]ignificant interference with his ability to 25 perform one or more basic work-related activities.” He opined that Plaintiff was 26 limited to “sedentary” work, defined as the ability to lift 10 pounds maximum and 27 ///

28 ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANT’S
MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT- 7

1 frequently lift or carry such articles as files and small tools, and perhaps requiring 2 sitting, walking and standing for brief periods. (AR at p. 220).

3 Plaintiff saw Dr. Forster again in March 2009 for “ongoing chronic low back 4 pain secondary to lumbosacral degenerative disease that has been documented before 5 with a previous MRI.” On exam, the Plaintiff was in no distress. Dr. Forster 6 prescribed 30 tablets of Vicodin for the Plaintiff to take when his back pain was bad, 7 but emphasized this was the only prescription he was going to give for Vicodin and 8 that Plaintiff’s medication would in the future be managed by a specialist at the pain 9 clinic. (AR at p. 224).

10 In April 2009, Plaintiff saw Dr. Forster, one of the purposes of which was to 11 have him fill out another disability form. The doctor informed Plaintiff that “ideally 12 the pain clinic doctors would be filling that out since they will be doing the imaging 13 studies and reviewing those . . . .” (AR at p. 228). Nevertheless, one month later, 14 Plaintiff returned to ask Dr. Forster to complete the DSHS disability evaluation form, 15 and Dr. Forster did so, although he emphasized that any future forms would have to 16 be completed by a pain specialist at the pain clinic “as his disability that apparently 17 prevents him from work is his chronic back pain.” Dr. Forster noted he had reviewed 18 the assessment of Dr. Kim at the pain clinic which pointed out that Plaintiff had tested 19 positive for methamphetamine and marijuana, and if this was confirmed with 20 additional testing, all narcotic pain medication would be discontinued. Dr. Forster 21 indicated that Plaintiff was attempting to get pain medication from him, even though 22 the note from the pain clinic clearly indicated the clinic was responsible for 23 prescribing any medication. (AR at p. 232). On the May 2009 form, Dr. Forster once 24 again labeled Plaintiff’s chronic back pain as a “moderate” impairment and opined 25 that he was limited to “sedentary” work. (AR at p. 236).

26 The ALJ accorded little weight to Dr. Forster’s November 2008 and May 2009 27 opinions. One of the reasons was that the doctor’s unremarkable examination 28

ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANT’S
MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT- 8

1 findings did not support a limitation to “sedentary” work. (AR at pp. 21-22). This 2 is a specific and legitimate reason for rejecting Dr. Forster’s opinions and it is 3 supported by substantial evidence. There is no doubt, as Plaintiff asserts, that MRIs 4 show the Plaintiff has multi-level degenerative disc disease, multi-level central disc 5 protrusion in the lumbar spine, and degenerate facet arthrosis at several levels. (AR 6 at p. 216 and p. 243). Nevertheless, Dr. Forster’s examination findings were 7 “unremarkable” in that they did not reveal any significant physical limitations arising 8 from that condition. Moreover, Dr. Forster suggested it was really the specialists at 9 the pain clinic who were in the best position to evaluate the severity of plaintiff’s pain 10 and resulting limitations.

11 Furthermore, to the extent Dr. Forster relied on Plaintiff’s statements in 12 formulating his opinions, the ALJ’s conclusion that those statements were unreliable 13 because of Plaintiff’s “drug seeking behavior, misuse of pain medication, pain 14 contract violations and secondary gain motivation” (AR at p. 22), is supported by 15 substantial evidence and was another specific and legitimate reason for according 16 little weight to Dr. Forster’s opinions. As is apparent, Dr. Forster commented about 17 Plaintiff’s drug seeking behavior and misuse of pain medication and there is 18 significant additional evidence of this, as discussed infra.

19 20 B. Jeremy Ginoza, D.O.

21 In July of 2010, Plaintiff saw Dr. Ginoza at Central Washington Family 22 Medicine for arm pain. Plaintiff reported that in April 2010, he was moving a 23 refrigerator on a dolly when it fell and landed on his right arm. Plaintiff refused to 24 enter a pain contract in order to continue taking tramadol, stating he would prefer 25 nonaddictive pain medications. He indicated he was using marijuana occasionally.
26 (AR at p. 331).

27 ///

28 ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANT’S
MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT- 9

1 In August 2010, Plaintiff reported he was experiencing back pain after 2 “throwing out his back three weeks ago lifting a heavy gate.” Dr. Ginoza indicated 3 that Plaintiff had “a pressure type low back pain, worse on the left” that was “actually 4 gradually getting better.” (AR at p. 329).

5 In September 2010, Plaintiff saw Dr. Ginoza for follow up on his chronic back 6 pain. Plaintiff indicated he wanted to start on a pain contract in order to allow him 7 to take narcotic pain medication stronger than tramadol. Plaintiff admitted to past 8 marijuana and methamphetamine use, but stated he was committed to staying clean 9 and taking only prescribed medication. (AR at p. 327). The pain contract was 10 established at a later appointment in September 2010, at which time Plaintiff stated 11 he stopped using marijuana 6 to 8 weeks ago. (AR at p. 326).

12 In October 2010, Plaintiff saw Dr. Ginoza for follow up on chronic pain. On 13 his own initiative, Plaintiff was getting into outpatient treatment for 14 methamphetamine use, his last use of the same having occurred the day before, 15 according to him. Plaintiff indicated he was still using marijuana occasionally.

16 In November 2010, Plaintiff reported having good pain relief with lidocaine 17 patches, his mood was pretty good and he recently put up Christmas decorations for 18 the first time in four years. (AR at p. 321).

19 Dr. Ginoza saw the Plaintiff on January 27, 2011. Plaintiff was complaining 20 of headaches since falling recently and hitting his head on a concrete sidewalk. He 21 reported that he was carrying a loveseat into the house and tripped over a yard 22 decoration. (AR at p. 319).

23 Plaintiff had been scheduled for followup on February 4, 2011 regarding his 24 head injury, but CT results of his head were negative, he was having no more 25 headaches, and his concentration and memory were normal. Instead, his concern was 26 now directed at the pain he was experiencing in both knees. Examination of the knee

1 and x-rays of the knee led Dr. Ginoza to diagnose bilateral patellofemoral syndrome<sup>1</sup> 2 with possible patellar subluxation.<sup>2</sup> The doctor prescribed knee braces and physical 3 therapy. (AR at pp. 317-18).

4 Five days later, on February 9, 2011, Plaintiff saw Dr. Ginoza “for pain in his 5 upper abdomen worse since moving boxes and playing with his 40 pound dog last 6 Friday, five days ago.” (AR at p. 316). As it turned out, Plaintiff was suffering from 7 cholecystitis (gallbladder inflammation) and would have his gallbladder removed on 8 March 1, 2011. (AR at pp. 313-15).

9 On May 5, 2011, Plaintiff saw Dr. Ginoza to follow up on his cholecystectomy 10 (gallbladder removal). Plaintiff reported that his “right abdomen has been sore and 11 he thinks he pulled a muscle by overdoing it when he made a canopy and his dogs 12 jumped on his stomach.” (AR at p. 310).

13 On May 19, 2011, Plaintiff reported that he was free of abdominal pain and 14 now wanted to do something for his chronic back pain which did not bother him as 15 much when he had the abdominal pain, but was again an issue because the lidocaine 16 patches were no longer relieving that pain. (AR at p. 308).

17 On May 23, 2011, Plaintiff was seen at Central Washington Family Medicine 18 by Jillian Vetsch-Calhoun, PA-C. Plaintiff presented with low back pain, “stating 3 had and requested medication for it. Plaintiff “jumped off the table and stormed out 4 of the room” when the PA-C told him she would not be giving him pain medication.

5 The PA-C indicated that Plaintiff’s gait was “normal and fast.” (AR at pp. 307-6 307A). According to the PA-C, she advised the Plaintiff he had violated his pain 7 contract by using methamphetamine and needed to discuss pain medication refills 8 with his primary care physician (presumably Dr. Ginoza). (AR at p. 307A).

9 Plaintiff saw Dr. Ginoza again in July 2011. Plaintiff reported constant pain 10 in his mid to left low back and in his left hip. The pain was “worse with activity” and 11 “has been giving him more problems when doing yardwork (sic) lately.” He showed 12 Dr. Ginoza some paperwork indicating he had “Category 2” lumbar disease per the 13 Washington Department of Labor and Industries (L & I). (AR at p. 499). Dr. Ginoza 14 recorded the following results from his musculoskeletal examination of Plaintiff:

15 [S]pinal range of motion - - flexes to almost 90 degrees with 16 slow return to neutral, (sic) extension, sidebending and rotation 17 are within normal limits (sic) patellar and ankle reflexes are 1/4 bilaterally (sic) Strength intact in the lower extremity by toe and heel raise and squat testing

18 (AR at p. 499).

19 On August 5, 2011, Dr. Ginoza indicated that Plaintiff’s spinal range of motion 20 was within normal limits. (AR at p. 498). On August 22, 2011, the doctor completed 21 a “Medical Questionnaire” prepared by Plaintiff’s attorney at the time in which the 22 doctor opined that Plaintiff was limited to “sedentary” work. (AR at p. 496).

23 On September 27, 2011, Plaintiff returned to Dr. Ginoza “with a few things on 24 his mind[,] but no particular complaint today.” Plaintiff reported that two weeks ago 25 he had twisted his back at a family reunion, but was doing better and the pain was 26 about gone. He told the doctor he had quit using methamphetamine two weeks ago

1 and had not used marijuana for two months, but that he would like to look into pain 2 pills for his chronic back pain. (AR at p. 497).

3 Like Dr. Forster's examination findings, Dr. Ginoza's examination findings 4 were "unremarkable" in that they did not reveal any significant physical limitations 5 arising from any of Plaintiff's physical conditions. This was a specific and legitimate 6 reason supported by substantial evidence for according little weight to Dr. Ginoza's 7 opinion that Plaintiff is limited to sedentary work. Furthermore, as the ALJ pointed 8 out, a L & I Category 2 impairment under Washington Administrative Code (WAC) 9 296-20-280 is a "mild low back impairment, with mild intermittent objective 10 findings." (AR at p. 22). This too was a specific and legitimate reason for 11 discounting Dr. Ginoza's opinion.

12 More significantly, Plaintiff reported a variety of activities to Dr. Ginoza-13 lifting a refrigerator, lifting a heavy gate, carrying a loveseat, moving boxes and 14 playing with his 40-pound dog, and making a canopy- that are inconsistent with an 15 RFC limited to sedentary work. Finally, to the extent Dr. Ginoza relied on Plaintiff's 16 subjective statements, his RFC opinion is appropriately discounted because of 17 Plaintiff's drug seeking behavior, misuse of narcotic pain medication and inconsistent 18 statements about illicit drug use. Dr. Ginoza was familiar with all of these issues 19 from his interactions with Plaintiff, as well as Plaintiff's interactions with other staff 20 members at Central Washington Family Medicine.

21 Considered separately, each of these constituted a specific and legitimate 22 reason for discounting Dr. Ginoza's opinion. Considered in combination, however, 23 they overwhelmingly constitute a specific and legitimate reason for discounting Dr.
24 Ginoza's opinion.

25
26 C. Matthew Johnson, M.D.

27 Plaintiff was first seen at Summitview Family Medicine in November 2011.

28
ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANT'S
MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT- 13

1 Plaintiff sought to transfer his care from Dr. Ginoza to Summitview Family Medicine.
2 Plaintiff advised that he “never uses street drugs.” Musculoskeletal examination by 3 Lori Smith, M.D., revealed “[n]ormal muscle strength and tone bilaterally 4 throughout.” (AR at p. 504). The same was reported by Dr. Smith on December 1, 5 2011. (AR at p. 502).

6 The record indicates the earliest Plaintiff began seeing Dr. Johnson at 7 Summitview Family Medicine was in December 2012. (AR at pp. 588-91). In the 8 “Medical Report” prepared by Plaintiff’s attorney which Dr. Johnson completed on 9 May 23, 2014, he listed the diagnoses for Plaintiff as chronic low back pain, bilateral 10 knee pain, right wrist pain, neck pain, depression, anxiety and COPD. He offered the 11 CT scan of Plaintiff’s lumbar spine from December 2011 as support for the diagnosis 12 of chronic low back pain. (AR at p. 618). Dr. Johnson indicated that Plaintiff needed 13 to lie down or elevate his legs two to three times during a week, that his medications 14 caused side effects of fatigue and confusion, that regular and continuous work would 15 worsen Plaintiff’s pain, and that Plaintiff would miss four or more days of work per 16 month due to his medical impairments. (AR at pp. 618-19). He opined that Plaintiff 17 was limited to sedentary work. (AR at p. 619).

18 The ALJ offered specific and legitimate reasons supported by substantial 19 evidence to discount Dr. Johnson’s opinion. As the ALJ noted, Dr. Johnson’s 20 restrictions are not supported by his own treatment records from December 2012 to 21 March 2014 (AR at pp. 569-90) which indeed “reveal superficial examinations and 22 no specific examinations of the [Plaintiff’s] spine or extremities.” (AR at p. 23). As 23 the ALJ also noted, when Dr. Johnson’s colleague, Dr. Smith, examined the Plaintiff, 24 the Plaintiff “exhibited a normal gait[,], as well as an intact sensation and normal 25 muscle tone and strength throughout all extremities.” (AR at p. 23).

26 In his decision, the ALJ also detailed how objective examination findings did 27 not support the degree of bilateral knee pain, right arm pain, and neck pain asserted 28

ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANT’S
MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT- 14

1 by him, nor the severity of the COPD asserted by him. (AR at p. 23). Plaintiff does 2 not challenge the ALJ's reasoning with the same degree of detail, resorting instead 3 to essentially a sweeping general contention that the objective examination findings 4 were enough to establish a limitation to sedentary exertion (e.g., "[o]ther exam 5 findings showed positive straight leg raise, borderline moderate/severe COPD, 6 bilateral knee crepitus and patellar crepitus" at ECF No. 13, p. 15).

7 The activities performed by Plaintiff, as reported to Dr. Ginoza, serve to 8 legitimately call into question Dr. Johnson's opinion that Plaintiff is limited to 9 sedentary exertion, just as they called into question the same opinion by Dr. Ginoza.

10 And finally, and perhaps most significantly, Plaintiff does not challenge the 11 ALJ's finding that Plaintiff lacked credibility regarding his complaints of pain due 12 to his drug seeking behavior, misuse of narcotic pain medication and inconsistent 13 statements about illicit drug use. Plaintiff told Dr. Smith in November 2011 that he 14 "never" used street drugs, although this was clearly untrue as revealed by the records 15 of Plaintiff's previous medical provider, Dr. Ginoza. Moreover, the Summitview 16 Family Medicine records do not show that Plaintiff ever advised that he violated his 17 pain medicine contract with Central Washington Family Medicine. A rational 18 inference is that Plaintiff left Central Washington Family Medicine because of his 19 inability to obtain narcotic pain medication there and transferred to a new provider 20 in order to obtain such medication- and he eventually did so (hydrocodone). (AR at 21 p. 570). To the extent Dr. Johnson relied on Plaintiff's statements of pain, and it 22 appears he did so extensively, Plaintiff's lack of credibility is a specific and legitimate 23 reason for according little weight to Dr. Johnson's opinion that Plaintiff is limited to 24 sedentary exertion.

25
26 D. Michael Gurvey, M.D.

27 Dr. Gurvey testified as a medical expert at the hearing conducted by ALJ 28

ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANT'S
MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT- 15

1 Siderius on February 29, 2012. Dr. Gurvey is a board certified orthopedic surgeon.
2 (AR at p. 681). He acknowledged that Disability Determination Services (DDS) 3 opined that Plaintiff was limited to light work<sup>3</sup>, but Dr. Gurvey's opinion, based on 4 his review of the record at that time, was that Plaintiff would be limited to medium 5 work.<sup>4</sup> (AR at pp. 682-83). Medium work is what ALJ Kennedy determined 6 Plaintiff's physical RFC to be. Plaintiff is incorrect in asserting that Dr. Gurvey 7 opined that Plaintiff was limited to light work.

9 E. Christopher Clark, LMHC

10 In November 2008, Mr. Clark, a Licensed Mental Health Counselor with 11 Central Washington Comprehensive Mental Health (CWCMH), completed a DSHS
12 Psychological/Psychiatric Evaluation for the Plaintiff. Mr. Clark noted the Plaintiff 13 did not report having received any mental health services and denied any chemical 14 dependency problems. (AR at p. 202). Indeed, there are no records from CWCMH 15 until August 2009, after both of the DSHS evaluations completed by Mr. Clark in 16 November 2008 and May 2009. Notwithstanding the lack of a mental health record, 17 Mr. Clark diagnosed Plaintiff with depression and anxiety causing a host of moderate 18 and marked cognitive and social limitations. (AR at pp. 203-04). Mr. Clark's May 20 <sup>3</sup> Light work is defined in 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1567(b) and 416.967(b) as the 21 ability to lift and carry up to 20 pounds occasionally and up to 10 pounds 22 frequently. It requires a good deal of walking or standing, or sitting most of the 23 time with some pushing and pulling of arm or leg controls.

24 <sup>4</sup> Medium work is defined in 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1567(c) and 416.967(c) as 25 the ability to lift and carry up to 50 pounds occasionally and up to 25 pounds 26 frequently. Persons who can do medium work can also do light and sedentary 27 work.
28

1 2009 DSHS evaluation also indicated no history of mental health services for the 2 Plaintiff. (AR at p. 208). This time, he diagnosed the Plaintiff with pain disorder in 3 addition to depression and anxiety. (AR at p. 209). He once again indicated that 4 Plaintiff had a number of moderate and marked cognitive and social limitations 5 including that his concentration, persistence and pace were poor and “probably worse 6 since last assessment.” (AR at p. 210).

7 As noted above, mental health therapists, such as Mr. Clark, are not 8 “acceptable medical sources” for the purpose of establishing if a claimant has a 9 medically determinable impairment. 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1513(a) and 416.913(a). Jay 10 M. Toews, Ed.D., was the first psychologist to evaluate the Plaintiff. His November 11 2009 evaluation of the Plaintiff included a clinical interview, a mental status 12 assessment, a records review, and a Structured Interview of Malingered Symptoms 13 (SIMS). Dr. Toews reported that Plaintiff “evaded discussion” about Doctor Kim’s 14 note indicating a positive urinalysis and a history of methamphetamine and marijuana 15 use for pain. (AR at p. 261). According to Dr. Toews:

16 [Plaintiff’s] SIMS total score exceeds . . . 14, recommended 17 as the cutoff score for suspecting exaggeration of psychiatric 18 symptoms and malingering. Scores on four of five subscales 19 exceeded the cutoff levels, suggesting he was deliberately 20 exaggerating medical and psychiatric complaints, specifically 21 neurologic complaints; affective disorders; psychotic symptoms; 22 and memory problems. Results indicate a high probability the 23 gentleman is malingering.

24 In summary, [Plaintiff] presents with complaints of low back 25 pain and left knee pain and complaints of anxiety attacks. He 26 evidences no signs or symptoms of anxiety this evaluation.
27 He has a history of methamphetamine and marijuana use, 28 which he denied and evaded at this evaluation.

He is cognitively intact and appears to function in the normal range of intelligence. Attention, concentration and memory are not impaired. . . .

He is able to comprehend[] mildly complex instructions. He would be able to interact with coworkers and supervisors.
He is capable of performing a wide range of routine and repetitive types of work activity. . . .

MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT- 17

1 (AR at p. 262).

2 Abdul Qadir, M.D., a psychiatrist with CWCMH, saw Plaintiff on September 3 1, 2009, but there is no indication this was formal psychiatric evaluation. Instead, it 4 appears to have been a medication management/treatment plan. Dr. Qadir informed 5 Plaintiff it would be difficult to treat his depression and anxiety because of his pain 6 medication and substance use. Plaintiff informed Dr. Qadir he was unwilling to quit 7 using pain medication and marijuana. (AR at p. 350). Dr. Qadir saw Plaintiff a 8 number of times thereafter through June 2012. (AR at pp. 366-68, 369-71, 377-79, 9 386-88, 389-91, 396-98, 403-04, 508-09, 511-13, 514-16, 517-19 and 613-16). Dr.
10 Qadir diagnosed depression and anxiety which the ALJ found to be “severe” 11 medically determinable impairments, however the doctor never diagnosed pain 12 disorder. The mental status exams performed by Dr. Qadir were consistently 13 unremarkable and Dr. Qadir never offered an opinion about the extent of Plaintiff’s 14 cognitive and social limitations and how they might impact his ability to work.
15 Mental status exams performed at CWCMH by Kathleen Mack, ARNP, and Shane 16 Anderson, Pharm. D., after June 2012, were also unremarkable. (AR at pp. 595, 599, 17 603, 607 and 611).

18 The ALJ provided “germane” reasons for according no weight to the November 19 2008 and May 2009 opinions of Mr. Clark in light of the subsequent assessments by 20 Dr. Toews and Dr. Qadir. (AR at pp. 24-25). The assessments by Dr. Qadir at 21 CWCMH consistently refer to Plaintiff’s continuing use of illicit substances-22 methamphetamine and marijuana- and how that worsened Plaintiff’s depression and 23 anxiety symptoms. In November 2013, Plaintiff acknowledged to Mr. Anderson at 24 CWCMH that he was occasionally using marijuana because it was now legal (AR at 25 p. 594). Asked at the June 12, 2014 hearing about the last time he used marijuana, 26 Plaintiff responded that it was about 2010 or 2011, but the ALJ pointed out to 27 Plaintiff that the record showed him admitting in November 2013 to continuing use

28

MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT- 18

1 of marijuana. (AR at p. 642-43). Plaintiff's drug seeking behavior, misuse of 2 narcotic pain medication and inconsistent statements about illicit drug use were a 3 "germane" reason for the ALJ to accord no weight to the November 2008 and May 4 2009 opinions of Mr. Clark.

6 CONCLUSION

7 Because the ALJ offered specific and legitimate reasons supported by 8 substantial evidence to discount the opinions of Drs. Forster, Ginoza and Johnson<sup>5</sup>, 9 and because he offered germane reasons supported by substantial evidence to reject 10 the opinion of Mr. Clark, he posed a proper and complete hypothetical to the VE.
11 That hypothetical included physical and mental limitations which were supported by 12 substantial evidence in the record and pursuant to which the VE opined that Plaintiff 13 could perform his past relevant work and alternatively, other jobs existing in 14 significant numbers in the national economy. ALJ Kennedy rationally interpreted the 15 evidence and "substantial evidence"- more than a scintilla, less than a preponderance-16 supports his decision that Plaintiff is not disabled.

17 Defendant's Motion For Summary Judgment (ECF No. 14) is GRANTED and 18 Plaintiff's Motion For Summary Judgment (ECF No. 13) is DENIED. The 19 Commissioner's decision is AFFIRMED.

25 <sup>5</sup> "Specific and legitimate" is the standard since the opinions of these 26 doctors were contradicted by Dr. Gurvey and by the opinion of DDS physician, 27 Norman Staley, M.D. (AR at p. 291), affirming the November 2009 physical RFC
